Live/Whirled the interactive music series at Perishable Theatre presents
Solstice -Whirled with The Daltons

For Immediate Release -Solstice-Whirled, the 2nd concert of Live/Whirled's 4th season, presents tales and songs of the winter season that have been beloved through the ages.

Maggie Smith-Dalton & Jim Dalton are, according to concert reviews, engaging, scholarly, delightful, warm, intelligent, flexible, humorous, talented, versatile, enthusiastic, personable, and joyful. The couple performs on guitars and instruments of the mandolin family, sings, spins yarns, and provides a look into the historic context for their performances as well. The Daltons specialize in 19th- and 20th-century music, history, and culture from parlor and stage, focusing on American, Celtic and British Isles traditions.

The Live/Whirled Series always features an interactive “Act 2,” that combines audience and performers in spontaneous music-making. For Solstice-Whirled, the audience will join in the celebration to sing some traditional carols of the season, led by the Daltons.

Concert is Sunday, December 6, 5 PM

Live/Whirled, developed by Perishable Artistic Director Vanessa Gilbert and American/Brazilian mandolinist Marilynn Mair, is designed to create a different sort of concert experience, combining performance with collaborative and improvisational elements to create unique music events. Audience members are invited to bring along an acoustic instrument to join in for the 2nd set, where the concert’s featured artists fuse their styles to create unplanned musical magic.
